"A constant struggle, a ceaseless battle to bring success from inhospitable surroundings, is the price of all great achievements."

The employees of a Bath shipyard had a snow-balling contest June 6. The snowdrift from which the ammunition came was discovered under a pile of chips.

Speaking at the graduation exercises of the Friends' select school at Washington where his son, Archie, was a pupil, President Roosevelt pictured his ideal American boy as one who plays hard and works hard, who is brave and strong, but gentle and kind. The bully, he said, was the meanest boy in the world.

City Drummer—Indeed! And what do they rip up?

Silas Hardacre—Yes, every Tuesday and Thursday night is "ripping up night" with the ladies' sewing social in this town.

West Virginia takes a pardonable pride in its growth as a coal producing state. It has risen from fourth to second place in the last three years. Its production for 1906 being 42,276,855 tons, against 41,497,435 for Illinois, hitherto second. The Mountain State will now start on a long stern chase after Pennsylvania, which in 1906 produced 200,546,000 tons of coal, anthracite and bituminous.

Indignant over the recent refusal of the Marlborough-Blenheim hotel at Atlantic City to receive the nieces of Senator Raynes of Maryland on the ground that they were Hebrews, a number of prominent and wealthy Jews of New York have organized the Society for the Enforcement of Equal Rights. It will endeavor to prevent discrimination of any kind upon the part of hotel managers against Hebrews or any other race of people, and an effort will be made to obtain legislation to this end in all states which have no such laws.

In an interview at Paris Thomas W. Lawson said it was absolutely certain that Roosevelt would be the next president, for even assuming that the Republican convention failed to name him Lawson thinks the Democrats would not let slip the chance. But if neither party convention should nominate Roosevelt, Lawson says that he would finance a popular movement which could not fail to re-elect "the greatest man that America has produced since Lincoln." He thinks Roosevelt's following is composed of the great intelligent, money-saving middle class.

A verdict for 25 cents, the price of his ticket was returned by a jury by direction of the Justice Thursday in the case of Chief Yeoman Fred J. Huende of the United States naval training station, the man who was excluded from a dancing pavilion last summer because he was in the uniform of the United States navy. The case will go now to the Supreme court on the question of damages. President Roosevelt has contributed funds towards the prosecution of the case, as also have many officers and enlisted men of the navy. The Supreme court will now be called upon to rule upon the right of any place of amusement discriminating against the wearers of the government uniform.

Foremost among the speeches made by men of national prominence on Memorial day in various parts of the country was that of the nation's chief executive at the unveiling of the Lawton statue at Indianapolis, this being the occasion of his long-awaited deliverance regarding the future of his railroad policy. The president's address made it plain that he intends to take no backward step in the policy of federal control of railroad and other public service corporations which he had previously mapped out in his messages and speeches. It carries his policy even a step further by calling for exclusive federal control of all mail-carrying railroads, even though they may be wholly within the boundaries of a single state. Nor does he halt at the much discussed proposition to require a physical valuation of the railroads of the country, and he expresses the belief that while there has been stock watering in some cases, the total capitalization of the railroads will not be found to be in excess of their present actual value. The president insists that the criminal managers of public corporations shall be prosecuted to the limit of the law, but explains that this implies no possibility of injury to honest railroad managers. As for the investing public, he makes it plain that there is not the slightest disposition to undermine existing securities.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake, of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar, and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. W. H. Kittredge and C. H. Pendleton, druggist and optician.

NEW YORK LETTER

Busy Night Scenes in New York Markets
—An Old-Time Ocean Race Between Windjammers—Broadening Influence of Carnegie Foundation—Fair Oregon Farm Girls See New York.

New York, June 8.—To the general public, peace is supposed to reign over the downtown business district from the hour when darkness falls until five o'clock hours approach next morning. Yet at this time of the year pandemonium reigns in one section of the lower West Side during the midnight and early morning hours. This territory, which embraces six blocks on West street, is the primary distributing point for all the garden stuff eaten in New York as well as in other towns, ranging all over New England, out into Pennsylvania, and up into Canada. Boats from the South loaded with fruits and vegetables arrive in the early evening, and from that time until midnight the longshoremen are busy unloading them, and the commission men, or their employees, a yelling, pushing, excited mob, like that of the stock exchange multiplied by a thousand and then gone mad, are busy seeing that they get all that is taken to the right places. This same region is the rendezvous of the farmers who drive in from Long Island and New Jersey with loads of produce, often from points twenty miles distant. The 2,000 "wagon men," the hucksters who cry their wares up and down the city streets during the day, are on hand, as well as all the jobbers who are going to take the great bulk of what will feed New York for the following twenty-four hours, ready to transport it to the various wholesale markets to which the scene of activity is transferred at three o'clock in the morning, and to one or another of which repairs every retail dealer in New York for his day's supply of garden truck. The business is one of tremendous proportions and it reaches out to every section of the country to secure its supplies.

Because it is extremely hazardous, if not impossible for the gigantic liners which are now under construction on the other side of the Atlantic to enter this port, even under most favorable conditions of wind and tide, New York stands face to face with the prospect of a big loss in commerce and the permanent diversion of a large amount of trade which rightfully belongs to her. The late and larger vessels of the transatlantic fleet draw 35 feet of water when carrying full cargo; but they are compelled to refuse freight which would make the draft greater than 30 feet because vessels with a greater draft cannot hope to clear the shoals of the channel, except under the most favorable conditions. A few days ago the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse went aground in the main ship channel for the second time since March, and the rapid succession of similar accidents which recently occurred is causing much concern to New York's shipping interests. The only hope of relief appears to lie in the movement inaugurated by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress for more liberal and regular appropriations for waterways improvement in which presumably New York would have a share. Among the other steamers which have recently stuck in the sand and mud which choke the entrance to the harbor for deep draft vessels are the White Star liner Baltic, the Atlantic Transport liner Minnetonka, and the Cunarder Carolina.

South street resorts of master mariners are discussing the great 15,000-mile ocean race of the three square-riggers, the Inverness-shire, the Strathmore, and La Perouse, which left Oregon in December for a voyage around the Horn and across the Atlantic to England, where they arrived early in May. The tale is told by the second mate of a British tramp which has just reached her berth in a South Brooklyn dock. The three windjammers were all up in the Astoria river in Oregon, loading for the Mersey, when the captains began a discussion of the relative merits of their respective craft, which resulted in arrangements for a race and immediately roused the sporting blood of Pacific ports and led to the wagering of considerable money. On December 27 the three vessels were towed out of the Astoria river and cast off from their tugs at the same moment. A few hours later they had lost sight of one another. The Inverness-shire made the run to Cape Horn in fifty-six days, and there spoke the British ship Robert Duncan, which had left Astoria fourteen days earlier. On March 15 she signalled and passed the French ship Empress Menelik. On April 9 the Menelik overhauled her again, and for six days the two vessels sailed bow to bow. Then the Scotch ship drew ahead and was heard of no more until she reached the Mersey on May 2, having made the voyage of approximately 15,000 miles in 26 days.

Two days later La Perouse dropped anchor beside her, and on May 15 the Strathmore made her appearance, thus rounding out a long-distance sailing race that would have been remarkable even in the days of the famous Yankee clipper ships.

The broadening influence of the Carnegie Foundation upon the country's institutions for higher education, is apparent in the action proposed to be taken at the meeting of the associated alumni of Brown University to be held on June 18, when an effort will be made to put through a petition to the General Assembly of Rhode Island for permission to amend the charter of the University so as to make the institution nonsectarian. The present charter, a product of the days when the form of a man's religion was considered as important as his substance, provides that a majority of the board of fellows shall be members of the Baptist denomination. While Brown's record in turning out three such remarkable executives as the present governors of New York, Rhode Island and New Jersey is held to be sufficient proof of virile and efficient management, those in favor of the proposed change claim that the denominational clause in the charter is deterring desirable students from attending the university, and that in several instances the same reason has prevented the college from participating in generous bequests. When the Carnegie Foundation was established with the primary object of providing for college professors and teachers who have devoted their lives to the cause of education, its provisions were so framed as to encourage the letting down of sectarian bars in education. The Brown alumni of New York, who themselves include every denomination under the sun, are anxious to see their alma mater take the lead in giving expression to the undoubted tendency of the times away from restrictive features in educational work.

While the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington is barking up the railroad-combination tree in which it has located E. H. Harriman, the chief anxiety of that eminent financier seems to be the selection of a permanent place of residence. At the time of his appearance before the Commission at the hearing in New York, he was credited with the statement that if it came to a choice between jail and the poorhouse, he would prefer the former. A few days ago Senator Tillamook suggested an even less desirable place than either. But, permitted a somewhat wider range of choice, and evidently a little particular as to his associations in any event, Mr. Harriman first selected one of the most expensive corners available on Fifth avenue as the site for a city mansion, and now has paid $80,000 for a hundred-acre estate overlooking the Hudson river, on which to erect a modest country home. The property is near to the estate which William Rockefeller recently purchased as the site for a $500,000 villa to be erected this summer for his son Percy. Not far away is Pocantico Hills, the $1,000,000 residence place of John D. Rockefeller when he is not dodging process servers, and a little farther up the river a Wall street broker is spending $250,000 on a medieval palace to contain 75 rooms. Nowhere in all Mr. Harriman's surroundings is the poorhouse which he appears so much to dread in evidence; but in case the Interstate Commerce Commission should get him finally, the big stone building at Sing Sing, in which misguided financiers who neglect to take their legal advice in advance find more or less permanent homes, is near at hand.

The congestion of the shopping district was suddenly increased last Friday morning by the advent of sixteen pretty girls and one more man from Oregon, who have just arrived on a trip which they are making to see the sights of the effete East. The man is Philip S. Bates, editor of a farmer's paper published in Portland, and the girls are a selected bunch of rosy-cheeked farmers' daughters, each of whom won the privilege of becoming a member of the party as the prize for securing the most subscriptions to the paper in her county. In addition to being a champion canvasser, most of them have other claims to distinction which count for a lot in the home county, even if not very well understood along Broadway. Miss Alda Metcalf, of Benton county, for example, can milk ten cows without stopping to rest. Miss Ella Harrison is the champion cheesemaker of Tillamook, Miss Grace McCoskey is the champion hop-pickler of Yamhill, besides being a college student, while Miss Audrey Woodery can drive a 38-horse team on her father's harvesting machine in Morrow county. Since leaving Oregon, the party have visited Washington, where they were introduced to President Roosevelt, the Jamestown Exposition, and other points of interest in the South. It is the unanimous opinion, however, that New York beats them all. As a matter of fact, the girls should have numbered seventeen, but Mrs. Daisy Stansell, nee Betteley, made the mistake of bringing Mr. Stansell along, and so got separated from the party when it reached the Hotel Martha Washington, where even new and timid husbands unaccustomed to being out alone, are barred. Present in Absence
Absence, hear thou this protestation
Against thy strength,
Distance, and length;
Do what thou canst for alleviation;
For hearts of true metal
Absence doth join; and Time doth settle.
Who loves a mistress of such quality,
His mind hath found
Absence's ground.
Beyond time, place and mortality,
To hearts that cannot vary
Absence is present, Time doth vary.
By absence this good means I gain,
That I can catch her,
Where some can catch her,
In some close corner of my brain;
There I embrace and kiss her,
And so I both enjoy and miss her.

The reports of superintendents will be given and the delegates to be chosen for the county W. C. T. U. convention to be held at Warren, June 27. Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens and Miss Anna A. Gordon will be present at the convention.

Dancers are offered an interesting novelty at Warren, Wednesday evening in the form of a "moonlight ball." This ball is given by 14 young ladies and gentlemen of Warren and will be the event of the season. Moonlight waltzes and the "German" will be introduced during the evening. The band's Quintet furnishes music. Cars to Rockland after the ball.

It has been a number of years since Rockland had a graduation ball and the dancers of the younger set are very keen for the one which '07 is to give in the Arcade next Monday evening. Pullen's orchestra of Bangor not only furnishes the music for dancing but will give a fine concert from 8 to 9 p. m. It will be quite the nicest dancing affair of the season.

The Children's Day concert at the Methodist church Wednesday evening was a very interesting event in which the little folks acquitted themselves most creditably. An address of appropriate character was delivered by Pastor Sutcliffe and there was a program of readings, songs and dialogues. The recitations were by Millicent Ames, Leslie Tripp, Minnie Walters, Lavinia Aylward, Sabra Hatch, Coriss Sewall, Mary Ingerson, Forest Hatch, Gertrude Dettie, Joyce Littlehall, Carol Knapp, Mildred Simmons, Jennie Sewall, Edna Kennedy.

Fire Echoes: While the contract for building the clothing factory was $11,000, as stated in our preceding issue, the actual cost of erecting the building is said to have been $14,000. Good authorities say that the building could not be duplicated at the present price of materials for less than $20,000. Some amusing stories are being told of the neighbors' experience in packing household effects, preparatory to a hasty departure. One young lady who is actively associated with Miriam Lodge thought only of saving her Rebekah robe. R. E. Moore, blacksmith, will rebuild his shop at once. Charles Cables is now located in the Littlehale house at 13 Lisle street. Neighbors and friends have been extremely kind to this family, which is certainly deserving of sympathy. The previous occupant of the Littlehale tenement house sadly enough was a victim of the big fire—R. E. Moore. Large elders were found near the Old County road, furnishing to some of the residents there the first intimation that there had been a fire. A woman, who lived within a stone's throw of the fire shop right through the excitement. H. H. Flint's house caught fire three times. The front of E. W. Berry's house was quite badly scorched. The heat was so intense that the occupants could not get into the front rooms.

Fred Rising, who has conducted a bakery opposite The Courier-Gazette office for many years, has retired from that business, and expects to secure a position as cook.

Three young men were arraigned before Judge Campbell yesterday morning for intoxication. One paid a fine of $5.34 and the others were allowed to go until they left the city for a definite period.

It looks very much as if the weather bureau was playing us for a freeze-out this season. By actual count there have been but two days this spring which might be construed as warm and not very much the warm the entire day. Yesterday was as cold as the ordinary April day.

King Hiram Council, R. S. M., has a special assembly in the Masonic hall at Camden Thursday evening. A special car will leave Camden for Rockland, and the train will be served in Camden at 6 o'clock and in the evening the degrees will be conferred upon several candidates.

If you are an alumnus of Rockland High School or interested in its welfare, join down the following events in your diary: Graduation Thursday night; baseball game between Rockland High and Alumni Friday afternoon; Alumni reception Friday evening; graduation ball next Monday evening.

Twelve hundred dollars in purses will be distributed among the winners of the four great trotting events at Knox Trotting Park, July 4th. The card will include a 2.12 class, 2.20 class, 2.28 class and 2.40 class, and some of the best horses in New England will be entered.

The starter will be H. E. Ackerman, a well known horseman and trotting official. Entries close June 30 at 11 p. m.

The first quarterly conference of Pratt Memorial M. E. church was held Friday night under the direction of the Presiding Elder, Rev. D. B. Phelan.

Judge C. E. Meservy was elected trustee to succeed the late W. O. Hewett, and Gilbert Hall was elected a clerk of appeals. Resolutions on the death of Mr. Hewett were adopted. They are published in full elsewhere in this paper.

The Maine Central's summer passenger schedule went into effect yesterday. Passenger trains now leave this city at 8 a. m., 10:10 a. m., 1:40 p. m. and 9 p. m. Trains arrive at 4:50 a. m., 10:42 a. m., 3:55 p. m. and 8:40 p. m. Connecting with these trains is the steamer Steamer de Monts running to Islesboro and Castine, and the steamer Pennaquin running to North Haven, Stonington, Brooklin, Sedgwick, Deer Isle and Sargentville.

Arthur Marsh and Herbert Mullen were Rockland's delegates to the division encampment, Sons of Veterans in Augusta last week. Other sons who attended were Past Colonels E. K. Gould, Arthur L. Orne and Henry C. Chatter, Pearl Look, Harold Look, Walter Wardwell, Charles Burpee and William Cross. This encampment marked the 25th anniversary of the Division, and was unanimously voted the best.

Henry G. Staples Camp of Augusta entertained in very fine style and presented the visitors with handsome souvenir badges. The next annual encampment of the Sons of Veterans will be held in Portland. At the concluding business session of the encampment at Augusta, Thursday, it was voted to increase the salary of the office of division secretary and treasurer from $75 to $100. The camp tax was fixed at 18 cents per quarter. Mrs. Helen Moody of Warren was elected vice president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, also an alternate delegate to the national encampment.

Knox Lodge of Odd Fellows conferred the initiatory degree last night upon Alfred Lamb.

The Methodist ladies are making preparations to serve a dinner Saturday, June 15.

Don't forget that the morning train and afternoon train leave earlier under the summer schedule.

The residences of James Wright and H. L. Thomas are being painted by Clifford & Karpis' crews.

The merry-go-round will not be located on Galen P. Hill's lawn. That point has been settled very decisively.

State Highway Commissioner Paul D. Sargent will conduct a county road meeting in the court house tomorrow at 11 a. m.

The Pythian Sisters will hold their regular meeting Wednesday evening, and all members are requested to furnish cake.

The First Baptist Choral Association will serve a dinner in the church vestry the 19th on the occasion of the visit of the Cantons.

Claremont Commandery conferred the Order of Temple and Order of Malta upon three candidates last night. Refreshments were served.

The summer school for feeble-minded at Garthgannon Lodge, Owl's Head, will open in a few days. Miss Bancroft who has charge of it, arrived Saturday.

About 20 of the High Island stonecutters spent Sunday in Rockland, and on their return were joined by six recruits. About 350 men are now employed at High Island, from which place stone is being furnished for the Wampanoag building at Philadelphia.

Francis E. Simmons is home from the University of Maine. Mr. Simmons was stage manager of the University of Maine Dramatic Club, which produced Shakespeare's "As You Like It" in a number of places this spring.

Mr. Simmons also played the part of Jacques. Another Rockland boy, William D. Hall, is secretary of the class of '07.

The Oakland Park restaurant, with O. H. Glynd proprietor, opened Saturday and the dinners on that day and Sunday were a guarantee that the cafe will be run on first-class principles.

Everything that goes to make a successful fish dinner is on "Daddy" Glynd's menu, and the service is of the kind that has made his career as a landlord so popular.

Those who were present at the evening service in the Congregational church last Sunday were well repaid by the select Scripture readings as given by Rev. C. L. Woodworth of Portland. His wonderful voice, intense and expression brought out to the full the profound truth and literary beauty and charm of the passages which he read. Especially fine were his interpretations of the parable of The Prodigal Son, and of the story of Isaac blessing Jacob.

RESOLUTIONS.
In the death of our beloved brother, William O. Hewett, the official board of Pratt Memorial M. E. church has lost a faithful and honored member. Bro. Hewett several years ago became actively interested in our church work, and as one of its trustees has been closely in touch with all of its interests. We as a board feel that we have all sustained a great loss. We shall miss his wise counsel and his earnest and active interest in our church work.

Whereas, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our beloved brother, therefore be it Resolved, that while we live in humble submission to the will of our Heavenly Father we deplore the great loss we have sustained in the death of our brother.

Resolved, That we extend to the family of our deceased brother our heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of sorrow.

Resolved, that a page of our records be inscribed to his memory, and a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased.

Obituary.

STEPHEN P. PRESCOTT.

The remains of Stephen P. Prescott, who died in Richmond, Va., Saturday, arrived here on the afternoon train yesterday, accompanied by Walter T. Prescott of Richmond and Washington R. Prescott of Providence, sons of the deceased. Brief services were held at the residence of Albert T. Prescott, Pleasant street, Rev. W. J. Day officiating. The remains were taken to Achorn cemetery.

Mr. Prescott had resided the past two years in Richmond, Va., with his son Walter. Saturday morning he was stricken with apoplexy and was conscious only an hour before his death. Deceased was born in Camden 75 years ago. He was married about 1850 to Miss Mary J. Nickerson of Belfast and shortly after took up his residence in this city. For a while he was employed by Cornelius Hanrahan in the lime business. In 1866 he established a wood and hay business, which he conducted with interruptions until his retirement five or six years ago. Mr. Prescott was a man of exceedingly genial disposition and during his long residence here was held in high regard by his fellow citizens. His wife died in July 1898. Mr. Prescott leaves one daughter, Mrs. George E. Carr, and five sons, Stephen G., Albert T. and Charles F. of this city, Washington R. of Providence, R. I., and Walter T. of Richmond; also two sisters, Mrs. George Allen of Thomaston and Mrs. E. H. Harding of Appleton.

KATHERINE H. KNOWLTON.

Saturday night Mrs. Katherine Holmes Knowlton passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emerson Richards, Birch street, at the advanced age of nearly 91 years. Mrs. Knowlton was born in this city, then known as East Thomaston, Sept. 15, 1816. She was the daughter of Barnard and Mary (Havener) Holmes. In early life she married Ephraim Knowlton. By this union there were six children, five daughters and one son, two of whom survive her, Mrs. Emerson Richards and Mrs. George Shuman, both of this city. There are eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren, also one half-brother, K. C. Rankin, who was always thoughtful of his aged sister. Two of the daughters, Mrs. Caroline F. Crockett and Mrs. M. Augusta Flannery, having died within the past three years was a great blow to the aged mother. An invalid for a long time, she has lived with Mrs. Richards, for the past 16 years, who has cared for her faithfully and well, and has done everything in her power to make the declining years of her mother peaceful and bright. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Shaw of the Universalist church officiating. The pall bearers were Ralph Richards, Walter Flanders, George Shuman and Albert Shuman.

MRS. EUNICE LAW.

Passed up to a higher life, in Washington, Me., June 2, 1907, Mrs. Eunice Law, wife of Luther A. Law, aged 69 years, 8 months.

The passing away of Mrs. Law deserves something more than an ordinary notice. She was born in Washington, October, 1837, the daughter of the late Alfred and Eliza Grotton.

Her life was spent in this town. She was married Dec. 4, 1858, to L. A. Law and was a true and devoted wife and mother. Two children came to her, a son, Minnie, a loving and affectionate daughter who died several years ago; Carrie, who left them at the age of one year. The loss of the dear children saddened her life greatly.

She was a citizen who will be missed, as her kind hands were ever ready and willingly stretched forth to aid the sick, relieve the distressed, and cheer the weary along life's highway. She was foremost in deeds of charity, and the village will miss one who was always helping to bring life to a higher ideal.

In the home circle she was an ideal woman, whose welfare was always cheerful and whose love was unstinted. She was a shining light which brightened all society and brought sunshine to many homes and joy to many aching hearts. To her sorrowful husband a consolation will partly soothe the aching void by the knowledge that her life on earth was marked by such loving acts and deeds.

That her memory will be held sacred through the ages to come and that such a life will "over there" be crowned with a halo of glory and happiness, and from the spirit land will come influences to the loved ones left behind to cheer them as they go down the delivility of life.

Such a life is glory, such a death divine.

may do for me. Then we will look them in here, and if we meet clerk or governor in the passages we will have time to overcome either or both before they are aware of the change. I'll go up the circular stair, bolt from the inside the upper door and afterward bolt the lower door. Then we open all the cells and release the other prisoners, descend from the rock, get into the Finnish fishing boat, keep clear of the two cannon that are up above us and sell for the Swedish coast. We can't miss it. We have only to travel west, and ultimately we are safe. There is only one danger, which is that we may make our attempt when the steamer is here, but we must chance that."

"Isn't there any way of finding out? Couldn't you pump the governor?"

"It is always very much on his guard and is a taciturn man. The moment the tunnel is finished I shall question about some further electrical material, and then perhaps I may get a hint about the steamer. I imagine she comes irregularly, so the only safe plan would be for us to make our attempt just after she had departed."

"Would there be any chance of our finding a number of the military down-stairs?"

"I don't think so. Now that they have their electric light they spend their time playing cards and drinking vodka."

"Very well, Jack; that scheme seems reasonably feasible. Now get through your material to me and issue your instructions."

THIS PAPER AND JAMESTOWN

When the World's Fair was held at Chicago in 1893 this paper gave a free trip to that exhibition, to a young lady who was the successful candidate in a voting contest.

In 1900 we sent two young ladies to the Paris Exposition, giving them also a European tour, the tourists also being winners in a voting contest.

In 1904 we sent four young ladies to the St. Louis Exposition, two of them winners in a voting contest and each taking a companion.

In all cases every expense of the trips was borne by this paper. Every comfort and luxury of travel was given the young ladies, and from the moment they left Rockland until they landed back home they were our guests. It is hardly necessary to add that the trips were occasions of the utmost delight to the participants.

Now we propose to do another good thing, to wit: We are to organize a voting contest, through which we will send to the great Jamestown Ter-Centennial Exposition that is to be held this year four persons, two principals, one a resident of Rockland, one a resident of Knox county outside of Rockland. These two will be the winners in the voting and each will be privileged to invite a friend to also make the trip.

Every expense of these four persons will be borne by The Courier-Gazette. This will include some striking features, as follows:

(1) Transportation, Boston to Jamestown, including a magnificent ocean trip in one of the palatial steamers of the Merchants & Miners Transportation Co.

(2) Luxurious entertainment at the Inside Inn, within the exposition grounds.

(3) Three days' stay at the exposition, with steamer trips to the Naval Fleet, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Hampton, Old Point Comfort, Fort Mifflin, etc.

(4) Soft up the Potomac to Washington, with visit to the sights of the national capital.

(5) A day in Philadelphia, visiting the mint, Independence Hall, Betsy Ross house and other historic spots.

(6) On to New York and homeward via Fall River line.

(7) Every luxury of travel and comforts from Rockland back to Rockland, ten days of glorious travel and sight-seeing.

Everything will be first-class and on a liberal scale. It will be a great vacation outing for four worthy persons—entirely persons, of course, for each winner can take along the person he or she would most prefer for traveling companion. Anybody may enter the list. What a great opportunity for professional men, or women, clerks, school teachers, to get a vacation trip!

FLEET HIAWATHA.

A Cynical Critic's Cold Analysis of Longfellow's Description.

Determined how fast, asks Professor Greenhill, Hiawatha can run from the following data:

Strong of arm was Hiawatha. He could shoot ten arrows upward. And the tenth had left the bowstring Ere the first to earth had fallen. Swift of foot was Hiawatha. He could shoot an arrow from him And run forward with such swiftness That the arrow fell behind him.

Neglecting the resistance of the air and granting that Hiawatha could shoot one arrow a second, the solution is as follows:

The time of flight of the arrows shot upward must have been nine seconds. Therefore the velocity with which they were shot, being equal to the time multiplied into half the value of the constant of gravity, was 144 feet a second. Now, in shooting an arrow from him, Hiawatha, to obtain the farthest flight, would let fly at an angle of thirty-five degrees, and by a simple trigonometrical calculation we therefore arrive at the fact that the horizontal velocity of the arrow would be rather less than 144 feet a second and would in fact be 102 feet a second, or seventy miles an hour. Hiawatha would therefore have to run faster than this. Could he do it on a sprint?

Again having recourse to calculation, we find that an arrow shot at 144 feet a second would fly 216 yards, or nearly a furlong. Hiawatha would run that distance in about seven seconds, so that he would be able to give the present holder of the record some 145 yards start.—London Post.

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

There Are Hundreds of Rockland People Similarly Situated.

Can there be any stronger proof offered than the evidence of Rockland residents? After you have read the following, quietly answer the question.

James M. Curtis, of 107 Main street, Rockland, Maine, says: "I had pains in the small of my back and I was so lame that I could hardly stoop or straighten up. In the morning it was hard for me to get out of bed as I was so lame and sore I could not rise to a sitting position. The kidney secretions were terribly disordered. Having used Doan's Ointment with great success for another purpose, I was led to believe that Doan's Kidney Pills might be equally good in case of kidney trouble, so I got a box at a drug store and began using them. They relieved the backache so much sooner than I could have hoped and by the time I had used two boxes, the pains had disappeared and the kidneys have been restored to a good healthy condition. I do not think there are any better remedies on earth than Doan's Kidney Pills and Doan's Ointment."

The Worm Eater.

Even "worm holes" are no guarantee of extreme old age in furniture, as was demonstrated some time ago in the law courts, when a woman came to excuse her husband's absence from the court on account of illness. "What is your husband?" asked the judge. "A worm eater, my lord," was the reply. "A what?" asked the judge again. "I don't wonder he's too ill to attend." The woman then explained that her husband was so called not because he was addicted to this peculiar form of diet, but because his trade was to drill these holes in new furniture to give it the appearance of antiquity.—London Tatler.

"Conspicuous by Absence."

Tactless, the great Roman historian, was the originator of the phrase, "Conspicuous by his absence" when, describing the funeral of Junia in his "Annals," he said the images of her famous kinsmen, Brutus and Cassius, shone by their absence. Lord John Russell popularized the phrase in England in 1859 by saying of Lord Derby's reform bill, "One provision is conspicuous by its presence, another by its absence."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From Our Regular Correspondent.]

Washington, June 4.—Members of the Inland Waterways Commission are returning after their trip down the Mississippi from St. Louis to the Gulf. All of them were deeply impressed with the possibilities held out by the Father of Waters, but each expressed his surprise that there was so little traffic on the great stream. In fact, they found the rivers almost deserted, and marveled at the fact that the true reason was made plain.

From Chairman Burton down, the members of the Commission openly expressed their astonishment that there were so few boats plying the river, and especially that Memphis and New Orleans, where the channel is sufficient to accommodate large steamers. In investigating the causes for this the commission learned from witnesses whom they had aboard the government vessel in which the trip was made, that the railroads had managed to gobble practically all of the traffic on short hauls between New Orleans and Memphis and intermediate points. The cost of loading and unloading the vessels at the wharves on these short hauls would eat up the great saving in freights. It was shown to the Commission that what was needed was a stage of water in the Mississippi from St. Louis to the Gulf that would permit the vessels now engaged in the trade between Memphis and New Orleans to continue as far as that point and up the Ohio to Pittsburgh. There is very little freight originating at either New Orleans or Memphis for the adjacent territory, practically all the raw materials, the principal of which is cotton, going to the mills and factories in the north. Charles E. Blanchard, of the Reclamation Service, and member of the Inland Waterways Commission, explained on his return the manner in which the railroads had paralleled the river route with their lines and had taken up almost all the available river frontage for the establishment of terminal facilities. Mr. Blanchard said: "What impressed me most was the absence of traffic from the great river, especially from Memphis down, where they have a channel. The most striking thing to this situation was the manner in which the railroads have simply 'skinned' the river route by paralleling it with their lines and 'hogging' the water front at all important landings for terminals. At Vicksburg we actually had to throw our line over a railroad track and tie it to it, and if a train had come along we would have been cut adrift on the Father of Waters. Another fact which impressed me was that the river interests have not seemed to progress with the times in the way of development, while the railroads have expended an astonishing amount of money in betterments—better engines and rolling stock, better terminals, and better facilities in every way."

"The Commission held sessions daily. General MacKenzie held his district captains in charge of the work along the river come on board and give testimony before the Commission as we traveled along and explain the particular work upon which the government was engaged in their district. All of this testimony was taken by stenographers and will be transcribed for the Commission, so that they may study it before a report is formulated."

Andrew Carnegie is expected, is to lend his strong influence and support to The George Washington University in its campaign to widen its scope and broaden its field of effort, until it establishes itself as the national "finishing school" for students and men of science. While the "Laird of Skibo" has not announced himself in person, the university authorities this week received from Dr. Henry S. Pritchard, President of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, a letter which undoubtedly reflects Mr. Carnegie's sentiments.

The cosmopolitan character of The George Washington University was shown strikingly last week on the occasion of the examination of five candidates for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Among those who served on the examining board were Minister Vogel, of Switzerland, and Minister Swinderen, of the Netherlands. However, this is nothing unusual in the daily history of this university, for it has attracted the attention of the foreign diplomats here to an unusual degree.

One reason for this is the existence in the university of a remarkably developed and well-equipped Department of Politics and Diplomacy. On the faculty of this department are to be found Associate Justice Harlan and Associate Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court. The object of this department is to fit men for the public service, particularly for the consular and diplomatic services and to supply that knowledge of this country and of foreign countries that will be of most value to journalists, teachers and other persons aiming to become moulders of public opinion upon the national and international issues of the day. Under the new rules adopted by the State Department for the strengthening of the consular service, it will not be long before the graduates of this department will be found in practically all of the better positions abroad. The day has gone by when political "pull" is the only requisite necessary for an appointment to the foreign service.

Training the American Officer. "Demerits" are given to the West Point cadet for the most trifling offenses, such as "gazing about in the ranks," having an "odor of cigarettes in his room" or appearing "on parade with soiled gloves." A rigorous medical examination has to be passed every few months, when the cadets are weeded out.—J. Stanton in Captain.

FURIOUS ITCHING HUMOR ON CHILD

Bleeding Sores Covered Her Whole Body After an Attack of Measles—Nursed Every Night for Three Weeks—Nothing Helped Her.

THEN CUTICURA MAKES COMPLETE CURE IN 5 DAYS

"It is in my opinion my duty to join those who praise the Cuticura Remedies. After my granddaughter of about seven years had been cured of the measles, she was attacked about a fortnight later by a furious itching and painful eruption all over her body, especially the upper part of it, forming a watery and bleeding sores, especially under the arms, of considerable size. She suffered a great deal and for three weeks we nursed her every night, using all the remedies we could think of. Nothing would help. We then remembered having heard so much about Cuticura Remedies. We sent for them and after twenty-four hours we noted considerable improvement, and after using only one complete set of the Cuticura Remedies, in five consecutive days the little one, much to our joy, had been entirely cured, and has been well for a long time. Mrs. F. Ruesenacht, R. F. D. 3, Bakersfield, Cal., June 25 and July 20, 1906."

HUMOR ON FACE

Cured by Cuticura Remedies No Return in 20 Years.

"My son, when a lad of sixteen, was troubled with humor on his face and after using Cuticura Remedies he was freed from every humor and has continued so to the present time after twenty years have passed. Your Cuticura Soap has been used in my family for several years and I have faith in the Cuticura Remedies. A. H. Smith, Marion, Me., Dec. 1, 1905."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults, consisting of Cuticura Soap (25c) to cleanse the skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c) to soothe the skin, and Cuticura Tablets (50c) to purify the blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., San Francisco, Boston, Mass.

Free Mailed Free, Booklet on Skin Humors.

Diamonds and Glass.

The diamond, instead of being a real solid, is a mass of atoms all in rapid and violent motion. The edge of the stone is formed of these moving molecules as well as the body. Now, glass is also made up of moving atoms, though they do not move so rapidly or so violently as the diamond atoms. When the diamond edge, therefore, is applied to the glass surface, the diamond atoms drive the glass atoms out of the way and force a passage.

THE JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION

The Courier-Gazette's Voting Contest, Through Which Four Knox County Persons Will be sent to Jamestown Free of All Charges.

The Courier-Gazette again presents one of its high-class voting contests, the winners in which will be sent to the great Jamestown Exposition, this paper paying all expenses from Rockland to Jamestown.

Class A.—This class is open to any person living in Rockland.

Class B.—This class is open to any person living in Knox County outside of Rockland.

The winner in each class will be the one receiving the highest number of votes. Each winner will be entitled to invite one friend, the expenses of the four to be paid by this paper.

Read the Rules of the Contest which will govern in all particulars.]

A coupon will be printed in each issue of the paper. Coupons should be put in packages of ten, plainly marked with the name of the person for whom the votes are intended, and the class in which they are placed.

It is essential to the contest that the names of not less than two contestants appear in each class and remain active until the close. In the event of the withdrawal of all active candidates but one, there can be no contest and the prize will be withdrawn.

1. For every yearly new subscriber to this paper at $2 two hundred votes will be given. A new subscriber may pay as many years in advance as he wishes, and receive votes at the rate of 200 for each year paid; but all these payments must be made in advance at one time.

2. For every $2 paid by present subscribers, either arrearages of accounts or in advance on present subscription, one hundred votes will be given.

3. Changes in subscriptions from one member to another in the same family, etc., made for obvious purpose of securing the increased number of votes given to new subscribers, cannot be permitted.

There will be no single votes for sale; votes can only be obtained as above set forth. Votes will be counted on Saturday morning during the contest and the figures of such counting printed in the following issue of the paper.

MARTINSVILLE

The rededication of the 21 Baptist church will take place next Sunday, June 16, at 2 p. m. at Martinsville.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle met with Miss L. G. Hupper Thursday last. A goodly number was present. A treat was served at 4.30 to the company.

E. O. Martin has gone to Camden to get the Mountain View House ready for summer guests.

The wife of Capt. Jesse Wilson died in Thomaston and the remains were brought to Martinsville last week.

The town is making some repairs on the highways in our village.

News was received here of the death of Capt. Ellis Bickmore, who died at the Soldiers' Snug in York, New York. Capt. Bickmore commanded the tugboat, the staunch vessels from this town in the past years on the salt sea.

Our parish committee is very anxious to get some painting done on the fence around the cemetery and old building around the church. We would be more than pleased if our neighbors would turn out and give a helping hand in the good work that is so much needed.

We are looking for a few more people to return home from Massachusetts after spending the winter months away at work. We are always glad to see them come back to their old homes.

BURKETTVILLE

Aggie Peabody is to move into the Simon Barker house at Camden. George Smith has recently vacated. He has moved into one of S. J. Gushue's houses.

Samuel Clapp of Rockland was at Mrs. Burketts the last of the week.

Arial Linscott and son Theo, of Rockland last Sunday, the guest of Mrs. Linscott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ludwig.

John M. Harding set out a large plot of strawberry plants last week.

T. H. Day sold his driving mare to Dr. Achorn of Washington Saturday.

Arial Linscott moved a large barn last week for Albert Vose at North Union.

Hamlin Calph is at work for Robert Moore in Washington.

Chester Pease received his doe deer from New Hampshire last week and now has her housed on a high yard. He will soon have a large yard fenced in around his private fish pond which he built last fall.

A. L. Walker has potatoes up nearly four inches. Burkett of Lewiston is visiting relatives here. Mrs. Burkett who has been stopping here is now visiting in Washington.

ONE AUTUMN DAY

On the Georges' placid bosom floats the idyllic dairy boat; Along the trees bright lights are fitting, Sounding like a lullaby note.

Oilers red, midst tangled wildwood, Seem to greet us, line on line; From the distant hills a murmur Of the wind and waving pine.

Mid the ferns the wild-grape twine With royal clusters freighted, While the "nightshade" seems o'er weighted.

Autumn leaves, like rainbow blending, Leaves of red and gold and green, And over all, our Nation's pride, A new beauty to the scene.

The swaying ferns, the asters wild, Great white with smile and nod, And over all, our Nation's pride, America's fair "golden-rod."

And the banks, so thickly verdant, In their dress of living green, While the trestle, far beneath us, In reflection clear are seen.

How each sturdy oak and maple, With their rugged trunks so brave, Seem competing with the grasses For their place beneath the wave.

Not a sound to mar the quiet Of perfect autumn day; Save the lowing of the cattle In the distance, far away.

Rheumatism Cannot Be Cured Unless Uric-O Is Used

Sudden Deaths, Heart Failure and Paralysis Are Caused by Poisonous Uric and Rheumatic Acids

The Rheumatic person is skeptical regarding the claims of almost any remedy advertised as a cure for Rheumatism and one can scarcely blame him for being so. All the plasters and liniments combined never actually cured a case of Rheumatism. They may relieve it in one quarter, but it is sure to break out somewhere else. The only true way to cure Rheumatism is to drive it from the system, for as long as the Uric and Rheumatic Acid remains in the blood, one is never entirely free from the trouble. This is where the value of Uric-O as a permanent cure for Rheumatism comes in. It breaks out the Rheumatic poison in the blood, muscles and kidneys, renders it inert and harmless and drives it out of the system. That is why Uric-O is such an admirable and effective cure for Rheumatism.

The chief reason that Uric-O is such a wonderful cure for Rheumatism is, that it is designed and prepared to cure Rheumatism and Rheumatism only. It is composed of perfect Uric-O and it is the only medicine in the world. That is the secret of its wonderful success. Rheumatism simply cannot exist in a person's system if Uric-O is used.
